

Alapati Uili - Assistant Principal

Mr. Uili began his teaching career as a long term substitute in the band room at Genoa-Kingston Middle School. From there he moved into the 6th grade classroom to teach math and science. After a one year stint in 6th grade, he spent the next 13 years in an 8th grade classroom preparing students for the jump to high school math. Mr. Uili took pride in trying to keep a positive mind frame while battling through Pre-Algebra, Algebra, and Geometry concepts in a middle school environment.

During his time at Genoa-Kingston Middle School Mr. Uili has coached middle school and high school football, performed in the GK teacher band No F's Given, and helped the drama department by performing in the pit orchestra.

Outside of the work day Mr. Uili can be found playing and climbing through far off lands created in his daughter's three year old mind. His daughter, Maya, will be starting her own school adventure this fall by going to preschool for the first time. When not slaying dragons or outrunning spaceships he can be found preparing for or running Spartan Races with his wife Dorothy.
